

Patrick Schrock earned his B.S. in Sound Engineering from The University of Michigan in 2004. Since then he has worked with sound companies around the Livingston and Washtenaw counties, freelanced as a sound engineer for several small Detroit venues, and built a private recording studio in Ypsilanti. Patrick found his love for theater sound design in 2008, running sound for his first YPT show, Jekyll and Hyde. This will be Patrick's fourteenth main stage show with YPT. Patrick works by day for a builder in Ann Arbor, and spends many evenings working in his studio or gigging with local bands.
