Cinderella Conflict Calendar

Being in a production is a big commitment. Launching a complex show in a short time frame makes rehearsal attendance especially important. It's important to consider that accepting a role means that the production, and its rehearsal time, will take priority over anything new that you might choose to schedule.

YPT productions demand that you attend all rehearsals for which you are called. Each and every rehearsal involves learning new material. There is simply no way to make up for lost time. Missing rehearsals will not only put you behind, but it may also disadvantage others who appear in scenes with you. The creative team reserves the right to remove you from scenes and/or songs based on attendance.

Please fill out your Conflict Calendar with extreme care.

Keep a copy for yourself.

Include all commitments, specify what they are (lesson/trip/holiday, etc.), and indicate any portion of that time you could be available. Be sure to include all athletic practices/games, concerts, religious holidays, birthday plans, out-of-town trips, vacations, lessons, performances, school commitments, etc. that would prevent you from coming to rehearsal. Attach an extra sheet or write on the back if you need more room for explanation.

Marking a particular conflict as “flexible” means that if you are called for rehearsal during that time, you will attend rehearsal and miss the conflicting activity.

Conflicts must be indicated on this form at the time of audition to be considered an excused absence. We will use this form to determine cast availability for setting the actual rehearsal schedule. We attempt to schedule rehearsals around conflicts to the extent possible.

If you have multiple conflicts weekly throughout this rehearsal process, the Production Team suggests that you wait and audition for a later show.

Thank you for your careful cooperation, which is required in order for us to undertake the complex process of scheduling rehearsals!
